WebApp Description

The idea for our web app is to allow user to find and view a multitude of accessories for their smartphones, tablets and speaker systems. Accessories range in quality of materials as well as in price ranges. Perhaps the user will want a specific case for a specific phone model? Let's take the iPhone 6 case for example, the customer may be looking for a certain colour or perhaps they are searching for the durability of the case and how it can protect their phone. Well our web app will display a detailed description of the products and will also allow the user to see the amount of stock available. We have used the iPhone as an example but we also display items for different brands such as Samsung and Sony. We will categorise via the type of smart device and the accessories inside will display the matchable items and brands.
